Raider's Widow

Widow of Britain's famous Gen. O. C. Wingate, leader of "Wingate's Raiders," who was killed in a Burma plane crash, shown above. Romance of this beautiful Scottish girl and the Burma raider was an unusual one. She first saw him when she was 15 and he was 30. He was standing at the rail of a liner. She approached Wingate and told him that "You are the man I'm going to marry," Wingate said, "Right, when?" The story goes that two years later he received a letter with the word, "now." And so they were married.

Washington Roundup

Manpower and Congress share the limelight in Washington today. It now appears likely that the armed forces will obtain upward of 250,000 men from the nation's pool of registrants under 26 years of age after allowances are made for 4-Fs, and deferments in a small list of "super critical" war activities. Indications are that the manpower commission's inter-agency committee will establish an over-all quota for seventy-five to eighty thousand deferments for men under 26.

At the same time, New Zealand Minister Walter Nash discloses his country's intention to reduce her armed forces. A similar move by Australia was recently criticized by some members of congress. Nash says his government's decision was approved by the Allies however, and is intended to increase New Zealand's contribution to the war effort through greater food production.

Its 12-day Easter recess ended congress reconvenes at noon facing issues which may arouse bitter controversy and threaten plans for a midsummer recess to allow members attend the national party conventions and mend their political fences. Confronting congress are seven appropriation bills which must be passed by July 1 and the price control and lend-lease extension measures with a June 30 deadline. The senate Republican steering committee, it is disclosed, has already agreed to demand revision of the price control law before extension is voted.

Great Swarms Of Allied Planes Smash At Nazis

Huge, Pre-Invasion Air Assaults On German Defenses Continue

GIANT AIR ASSAULTS NOW IN FIFTH DAY

By CHARLES A. SMITH
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, April 12.—Great forces of Allied warplanes swarmed out from Britain to the continent throughout today to conduct assaults which may mark the beginning of the final all-out effort to destroy the Nazi air arm before invasion.

Allied bomber and fighter craft swept out across the channel to carry into the fifth consecutive day an unprecedented aerial onslaught against German communications and aircraft centers.

Coastal Defenses Battered

Coastal defenses along the shores of Nazi-occupied France were battered by Allied formations following a night assault by the RAF on the rail hub of Aachen in western Germany and Hanover. The German radio reported the southeastern Reich was under assault in daylight but there was no immediate confirmation from Allied quarters. The Nazi agency DNE said violent air battles were being fought over southern Germany and indicated that the heaviest fighting was in the area of Neudorf in Austria and over the eastern Alps. Radio Cologne, indicating Mediterranean based craft were conducting an offensive, reported air battles were waged over Wiesbaden, Mainz and northeast of Frankfurt.

Important Rail Center

Aachen, one of the most important rail centers on the main route linking Germany, Belgium and France, was rocked to its heels by a strong force of night bombers whose bombing was described in

Bombers Attack Austrian Plants

(BULLETIN)
NAPLES, April 12.—(INS)—Heavyweight bombers of the Mediterranean air force, attacking in great strength, today blasted three Nazi-operated factories at Wiener Neustadt, Austria.

Wiener Neustadt, site of vital enemy aircraft plants, is situated about 25 miles south of Vienna.

Violent Blast On Channel Coast

(BULLETIN)

ON THE SOUTHEAST COAST OF ENGLAND, April 12.—(INS)—Violent explosions, possibly of a naval character, were heard along the English channel coast today.

The blasts, which continued throughout the morning, came either from France, Belgium or Holland, shaking houses on the British side alarmingly.

These explosions were the heaviest yet experienced. Seated observers were unanimous in believing that "something unusual" was under way.

Four Alarm Fire At Refinery Plant

PHILADELPHIA, April 12.—(INS)—Seven persons were burned today when an explosion started a four-alarm fire at the Atlantic Refining Company's refinery on the banks of the Schuylkill river in South Philadelphia.

The injured workmen were taken to a nearby hospital.

Whether anyone was killed by the blast, which shook the entire neighborhood in the area of the plant at 32nd street and Passyunk avenue, was not immediately determined.

See Difficulties In Crimea Evacuation

By MAJOR PAUL C. RABORG
(Written Especially For I.N.S.)

NEW YORK, April 12.—A great Soviet offensive against the entrapped Nazi garrison of the Crimea has already penetrated deep down the Perekop isthmus. The battle of the Ukraine is finished, all that remains is the mopping up. The battles of the Balkans and the Crimea have commenced.

The historic Crimea, scene of the immortal "charge of the light brigade," has witnessed many desperate conflicts. It took the Nazis 250 days to capture Sevastopol. The German losses were worse than severe. It is doubtful that such battles will be repeated in this latest red offensive.

British Battle Japanese Forces Before Kohima

Japanese Forces Reported As Held To Standstill Before Big Supply Base

By JAMES E. BROWN
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW DELHI, April 12.—Japanese troops invading eastern India dealt the allies a new setback in the rolling foothills of the Imphal plain today but were fought to a standstill before the big supply base at Kohima to the north where their activities dwindled in the face of bitter British resistance.

A small hill on the rim of the Imphal plain fell to a Nipponese column advancing slowly in that sector, Lord Louis Mountbatten announced. He added, however, that farther north "there has been no important change in the Kohima area, where enemy activity has decreased."

To Clear Main Highway

In that area, the communiqué continued, allied forces have begun operations to clear the main highway, while other units operating along the Tamu-Pagai road have thrown the last enemy block from that vital supply route.

The Japanese occupation of the hill near Imphal was accomplished only at the cost of heavy casualties, spokesmen revealed later.

Deep in the jungles of upper Burma, however, British, American, Chinese and Indian forces carved out a series of fresh successes. Under the command of Lieut.-Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, Chinese units drove down the Mogaung valley to occupy the village of Tingling while other detachments west of the Mogaung river launched a heavy attack upon a small pocket of enemy resistance.

The progress of combined units working their way toward the American Planes Destroy 2,611 Nazi Aircraft This Year

London News Estimates Germans Have Probably Lost 4000 Planes Since 1943

LONDON, April 12.—(INS)—British-based American planes, since the beginning of the year, were credited today unofficially with destroying 2,611 German aircraft including the 126 downed yesterday over Germany.

The London Evening News estimated that the Nazis "probably have lost a total of at least 4,000 aircraft of all types in the last three and a half months." Some sources say that new production can hardly keep pace with such losses, and experts consider the Luftwaffe as a "wasting asset" though it still disposes sufficient strength to resume attacks on Britain at any time.

Other qualified observers, meantime, pictured the current round-the-clock bombardment of Nazi Europe which is now in its fifth straight day as the first round of the forthcoming invasion. Its objective is to knock out German nerve centers leading to the threatened coasts, these circles add.

These sources estimated that during the last 90 hours at least 10,000 RAF-USAAF sorties have been flown and a minimum of 14,500 tons of bombs dropped on vital Nazi rail centers, aircraft factories and docks. This indicated that an average of 111 planes have been over the continent at every hour of the day and night during that period, losing 150 tons of explosives every hour without halt.

U.S. Destroyers Bomb Jap Bases On New Guinea

Make Trip Deep Into What Were Once Enemy Controlled Waters

FIGHTER PLANES PROTECT SHIPS

By GEORGE LAIT
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, April 12.—American destroyers, sailing under a fighter plane umbrella deep into what were once enemy-controlled waters, were revealed today to have bombarded three key Japanese bases on embattled New Guinea Island.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, supreme Allied commander in this theater disclosed that the flotilla hit first on Monday morning at the battered enemy bastion on Hansa Bay. The speedy "tin cans" stood offshore, just outside the range of Nipponese shore batteries, to shell gun positions and other targets at almost the same moment as fleets of heavy bombers dropped 227 tons of explosives on those same objectives.

When the warships left, the entire area was obscured by a dense smoke screen, through which high-leaping flames could occasionally be observed.

Bomb Other Bases

The destroyers then slipped back to their home bases, stopping en route to give Alexishafen and Madang, now threatened by the approach of Allied ground forces, a similar workout.

Meanwhile, bomb-pitted Rabaul at the upper tip of New Britain Island, was hit twice more by 200 bombers and fighters which left smoke columns billowing 7,000 feet into the air over blazing supply areas. The smoke was visible 40 miles away returning airmen reported.

Fighter planes destroyed or damaged 10 enemy barges during the two attacks, carried out Saturday and Sunday night. Other bombardment squadrons composed principally of heavy four-motored units, battered Uligan harbor on the Madang coast in an attack which caused additional destruction to enemy shipping facilities.

Gain On Bougainville

Hard-fighting ground forces on Bougainville Island extended their perimeter in the Torokina area two miles to the east. A summary of enemy losses on that island in the month ended April 8 showed that 5,370 Japanese officers and men

Gen. MacArthur Given Support

Illinois Primary Results Show Unusual Endorsement Is Given War Leader

CHICAGO, April 12.—(INS)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur was given his biggest endorsement as a Republican presidential possibility when late returns today from yesterday's balloting in the Illinois primary showed more than half a million voters recorded for him by GOP voters.

MacArthur was polling more than 70 percent of the Republican vote cast—an average of 58 votes in each of the 872 precincts of the state.

Projection of incomplete returns on that basis indicated he would receive 506,124 votes.

As a presidential candidate entered in Illinois without his signature or consent, he was running in line with leading vote getters on the Republican state ticket, despite the lack of concerted organization support.

His only opponent was Riley A. Bender, politically unknown Chicago real estate dealer, whom MacArthur was beating by about 15 to 1.

While Gen. MacArthur was piling up his impressive total, Gov. Dwight H. Green's slate of Republican candidates for nomination rode to an easy victory.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—(INS)—Maj. Gregory Boyington, of Okanogan, Wash., marine corps fighter pilot who was reported missing in action over Rabaul after shooting down a total of 26 Japanese fighter planes, today was awarded the congressional medal of honor.

The navy announced that the high honor was granted to the missing ace by President Roosevelt for "extraordinary heroism."

Report Cars Were Being Parked In Abandoned Limestone Mine

Although Dale L. Baker, 16, South Pine street, and Jack DeGennaro, 15, Acorn street, used an abandoned limestone mine in Cascade street and several parking lots to cache allegedly stolen cars they were caught by state police Tuesday evening and, being on probation, were last night returned to the custody of Jack M. Dunlap, juvenile court officer.

According to the state police, all of the cars, excepting one, were stolen from this city and the other, or ninth, was taken from Slippery Rock after a car driven by the boys figured in a hit and run accident on the New Castle-Slippery Rock highway recently.

The state police went to the Cascade street section yesterday, questioned DeGennaro and Baker, who tried to escape. The state police chased and caught the boys and then went on an exploratory trip through the mine.

They traveled several hundred feet underground before they located one of the cars which reportedly had been stolen. They lighted matches to guide their footsteps.

'Write-ins' Give Dewey Surprising Nebraska Vote

OMAHA, Neb., April 12.—(INS)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York furnished a tremendous surprise to politicians today by strength he displayed in Nebraska's Republican presidential primary solely on write-in ballots.

Late returns from yesterday's balloting showed he ran second only to former Gov. Harold F. Stassen of Minnesota, an avowed candidate for the presidential nomination, while the New York governor had denied he was seeking the Nebraska vote.

Wendell Wilkie, who dropped out of the competition in a dramatic speech at Omaha last week, ran a poor third to Stassen and Dewey, although his name remained on the ballot.

Unofficial returns from 1,432 precincts showed Stassen had polled 34,268 votes, to 13,016 write-ins for Dewey, and 3,908 votes for Wilkie.

In the same precincts, President Roosevelt, whose name was the only one on the Democratic ballot, received 23,348 votes.

Republican Gov. Dwight Griswold received a strong endorsement for a third term from members of his party, with a lead of nearly six to one over W. R. Brooks, Omaha sal dealer.

German Troops Are Forced Back In The Crimea

Capture Or "German Dunkerque" Are Facing Thousands Of Nazis

REDS LIBERATE CITY OF KERCH

By NATALIA RENE
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, April 12.—Nearly 120,000 doomed Nazi troops in the Crimea, deprived of their most important communications center and cut off from all land escape, fell back today toward the Sevastopol naval base before converging Russian forces which drove forward as much as 38 miles.

Faced with ultimate capture or the need of attempting a "German Dunkerque," the German and Rumanian forces relinquished extremely strong defenses under relentless Russian pressure. Their desperate counter-attacks proved fruitless before the red army advance which cleared the Perekop isthmus, liberated the fortress city of Kerch and wrested from the Nazis the key rail junction of Dzhanki.

Nazi "Dunkirk"

Southwest of Odessa, meanwhile, a Nazi Dunkerque withdrawal of badly-mauled enemy troops fleeing from the liberators of Odessa was subjected to an unmerciful pounding by Soviet air, artillery and armored forces. The Germans, estimated to number some 200,000 troops, were fighting with their backs to the Black sea as the Russians admittedly sought to "annihilate" them.

Cannon-firing Stomovik dive-bombers bombed and strafed enemy troop concentrations and vehicular traffic crowded around the terminals of the rail-ferry across the broad mouth of the Dniestr (Dniester) river. This last way of escape is "being pounded day and night," said the Soviet communiqué.

Enemy Losses Heavy

"As a result of the bombing and cannon fire, the enemy is sustaining heavy losses in men and material," added the official bulletin.

Would-Be Assassin Is Badly Wounded

Guards Shoot Man Accused Of Attempt To Slay Mexican President

By ARTHUR COSTANTINI
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MEXICO CITY, April 12.—Little if any hope was held out today for the recovery of President Manuel Avila Camacho's would-be assassin, who was seriously wounded while fleeing from his guards.

Lieut. Antonio De La Loma Rojas, 32-year-old army officer identified as the confessed assailant, was in the Central Military hospital in a dying condition. An official statement described his condition as "very grave," adding that peritonitis had developed and he was not given even a fighting chance of recovering.

His death is expected momentarily, the report added.

The lieutenant was shot through the stomach while "trying to escape," the commander of the Sixth Cavalry regiment reported to the Ministry of National Defense. The flight attempt occurred at Hacienda Echegaray, about 12 miles outside of Mexico City, where the president narrowly escaped death Monday.

Meanwhile, U. S. Secretary of State Cordell Hull congratulated the Mexican president on his narrow escape from death. Hull's message was transmitted through American Ambassador George S. Messersmith, who delivered it to the foreign office.

Avila Camacho escaped injury in the assassination attempt, when the assassin's bullet pierced his coat and vest. G. applying with the would-be assassin, the president was credited with saving his own life.

neighborhood of Myitkyna, the main enemy base in northern Burma, was described by Mountbatten in his communique with the terse report:

"Allied forces have crossed the Pango west of Wakawing." Wakawing is a village about 38 miles northwest of Myitkyna itself.

Strike Supply Bases

Medium bombers meanwhile continued to strike at Japanese supply bases by "successfully bombing" the big Pegu rail station while fighters and dive-bombers attacked unidentified targets in the Arakan, Mayu, Kaladin, Chin hills and Chindwin valley areas.

Earlier reports indicated that Japanese commanders were sparing for time before their objectives in India, hesitating at putting immediate further strain on their extended communication lines after being jarred yesterday with a sudden allied counter-thrust.

Frontline dispatches reported that the enemy is showing no signs of retreating either of what had appeared to be his two most promising alternatives—to attempt a major engagement on the Imphal plain itself or to by-pass the big supply base of Kohima to the north.

Instead, the Nipponese continued to maintain steadily their pressure on Kohima, some 35 miles from the Dimapur station of the Bengal-Assam railroad, main supply route of Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's American and Indian forces in Upper Burma.

was seriously hurt by aerial bombardment, this natural supposition is that Stalin's navy must at this time control the Black sea.

Evacuation Difficult

If that is true, the German evacuation of the Crimea is going to be most difficult if not impossible. In fact it would appear that the estimated hundred thousand Nazi soldiers now on the Crimea face certain capture or extermination.

An amphibious Soviet assault landed on the sea coast of either Rumania or Bulgaria would have the immediate effect of placing red forces behind Nazi units which are now defending the Balkan states, and in particular the Ploesti oil fields and the Carpathian mountains.

Viewed from a distance, the continued Axis defense of southeastern Europe or the Balkans appears more and more impossible. Soviet armies are assaulting by land. Stalin can launch amphibious attacks against Rumania and Bulgaria. The allies can start other invasions from the middle east, or across the Adriatic. Any or all would make Nazi defense of that corner of their fortress Europe impossible.

early reports as "well concentrated." The city, in addition to being a vital communications hub, is the center of much of Germany's coal and iron industry. It is some 44 miles west by south of Cologne and has a normal population of about 163,000.

The last major RAF attack on Aachen was made July 13, 1943 when a number of four-ton super-bombers were dropped on the city. Five hundred acres were devastated and 80 factories hit.

As the daylight formations took up the assault this morning, the Nazi home radio chain warned that "enemy bombers are approaching southeast Germany." Simultaneously, the Lille, Luxembourg, Frankfurt and Priesland outlets lapsed into silence.

Attack By 2,000 Planes

The attacks came just 24 hours after some 2,000 American warplanes smashed at key production centers within Germany, shooting down at least 126 interceptors.

The night stabs followed yesterday's daylight blows at war production centers within Germany, during the course of which American bombers and fighters shot down 126 enemy interceptors at a cost of 80 of their own craft. These included 64 bombers, one of the heaviest losses to date, and 16 escorting fighters.

Principal targets of the daylight hammerings were Oesersleben, Bernburg, Rostock and Arnswalde. The former two cities, hit hard in earlier attacks, are the home of Nazi warplane production factories; the latter house many of Hitler's plans turning out necessary supplies for the Wehrmacht. Other industrial targets also were hit.

Drop 1,200 Tons of Bombs

An estimated 1,200 tons or more of bombs were loosed on the objectives during the attacks, which carried the big bombers deep inside the Reich.

American spokesmen announced that the attacks on Oesersleben and Bernburg were designed to disrupt repairs started after heavy assaults earlier this year had ripped those cities and caused havoc among enemy plane factories there.

"After completion of their escort mission," the communiques announced, "some of our fighters swooped low over enemy airfields, destroying or damaging a large number of enemy planes on the ground."

Unofficial sources estimated that perhaps as many as 50 Nazi bombers and fighters were bagged in these sweeps.

acks in the Crimea proved ineffective, one major thrust by Nazi tank-pieces infantry succeeded in occupying Euzkatz, 20 miles east of Stanislawow in eastern pre-war Poland. At the cost of heavy losses in manpower and equipment, these German troops succeeded in partially smashing the Skala trap and joining remnants of 15 divisions being methodically wiped out.

Within Rumania, other red army units started a new crossroad of the Sirtul river and captured the rail center of Pascani thus cutting the main railroad from Bucharest to Poland; to the east, the Russians broke into the outskirts of Tiraspol, a rail stronghold 35 miles northwest of fallen Odessa and smashed into the environs of the semi-encircled city of Jassy.

Another setback was suffered by the Germans at Lwow, vital railroad center in old Poland.

The Crimean push was marked by the advance into the peninsula of red army forces that swept down the Perekop isthmus, across the Sivash gulf, and inland from the Kerch.

The Soviet advance that overran Kerch, smashed three "successive" Nazi defense lines that advanced 19 miles further to cross the formidable Turkish wall.

coast on the west flank of the Allied perimeter. Another Nazi thrust southeast of Carroceto was repulsed, with the Germans suffering casualties in all engagements.

Twelve Nazi warplanes attempted to attack the Anzio port area, but the Fifth army anti-aircraft defenses cracked into action. At least one, and probably another, of the enemy craft was destroyed. A second smaller attack was likewise driven off, with one of the raiders listed as "probably" destroyed.

Damage to Allied positions was described by a spokesman at Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson's headquarters as "nil."

Shelling Reduced

On the main Fifth Army front, the enemy shelling of Allied strong points was on a greatly reduced scale south of Cassino. However, north of the bomb-devastated town a "small" German attack was launched with strong mortar support, but was quickly repulsed.

Northwest of the town, Nazi field guns and mortars subjected Allied positions in Cassino Hill to "considerable" fire. Fifth Army guns replied with unreported results.

American casualties in the New Britain campaign, which began last December 15 and now seems drawing to a close with the enemy retreating at top speed toward Rabaul, were listed today as 442 killed, 10 missing and 1,062 wounded. Japanese casualties in this fighting were estimated yesterday at 10,000 men, including 4,679 dead.

Gen. MacArthur announced also that in the course of night air patrols over the Carolines, Allied fighters blasted important shore installations and damaged two enemy cargo ships, including one 9,000 and one 2,000 ton vessel. The attacks were carried out near Japanese-held Woleai Island.

boys said they "parked" cars there so they could return for them. They reportedly also said they parked cars in free parking lots, moving them now and then to cast off any suspicion the cars had been stolen.

The police authorities reported that Baker figured in a similar episode in January and DeGennaro in February.

The nine cars were assertedly taken from various places during the past two weeks and the accident in which the car of City Mechanic Walker figured and which was in the boys' possession led to their apprehension yesterday, according to reports.

It was further stated that in practically all of the alleged thefts drivers had left keys to the cars in the ignition which made it very easy for the boys to drive them away.

Urge Return

Captain O'Brien of the Army and Lieutenant McFarland of the Navy were present representing the ordinance branches of their service and spoke. They urged the men to return to work and resume production of vital war materials. Joseph E. Conway, Federal conciliator and Joseph A. Sharkey, State mediator, also spoke along the same lines.

Finally, Mr. Skundor, the international representative of the union told the men that the report of the committee seemed satisfactory, that the union would insist upon their contractual rights and instructed the men to return to their work immediately.

Clark H. Johnson, plant manager stated today that the men of the eight to four shift reported for duty this morning and that the plant was now operating upon schedule.

Look to Service In Funerals...

So much stress has been laid upon caskets and prices that it creates the impression these are the most important things in funeral service. That is not true. Professional services and equipment represent a larger part of the cost. These also are the real factors of a funeral service that is satisfactory—or otherwise.

THE GRAND STRATEGY

THERE are some indications from the fighting fronts which lead toward the conclusion that the stalemate on the Italian front may be quite deliberate on the Allies' part. The delay at Cassino and at Anzio in some respects seems to fit into Balkan strategy and some military observers are now convinced that the timing has been keyed to the invasion of western Europe.

The grand strategy apparently is going to be to cut loose with everything from all sides at the moment of the invasion. Germany's strength is being sapped through the crippling of raw material sources. And the big blows are yet to come.

The big Ploesti oil field in Rumania, for instance, has been providing Germany with a third of her oil. Russian armies are drawing close to Ploesti at this moment. But more is involved than oil. Rumania and Bulgaria have been supplying vast quantities of corn and soybean oil. Greece and Turkey have been the chief sources of chrome ore. The bulk of Hitler's copper has been coming from Yugoslavia, Finland and Spain and the first two are slipping from his grasp. And considerable bauxite has been coming from Hungary and Yugoslavia.

It is now known that fully-equipped Yugoslav and Greek divisions are based in the Middle East, ready to move into their own countries on short notice. Already the Yugoslav Partisans are keeping a large number of German divisions busy.

The grand strategy is shaping up. It looks very much as if the blows will fall from north, south, east and west. The big question then will be how strong Germany actually is—whether she will be able to shorten her lines and withstand a terrific pounding, or will crumble. Either way, the most costly and tragic battles in all history may lie ahead.

MOON GARDENING

Prof. W. B. Ward of Purdue university is a reckless man. Addressing a garden school he defied superstition and tradition by declaring that "the moon is for romance only. If the soil conditions and the weather are right your vegetables will grow whether it be in the light or dark of the moon."

Many a gardener still insists that he will plant only "when the sign is right." He adheres to the belief that corn and other crops that grow above the ground should be planted in the light of the moon and that the best time to plant things that grow under ground, such as potatoes and beets, is when the moon is going through its dark phases.

The thought that the moon was an influence in everyday affairs also has been applied to shearing sheep, pruning trees, butchering meat animals and laying shingles. Old-timers contended that if hogs were killed in the dark of the moon, the pork would shrink when cooked.

The United States Department of Agriculture has advised repeatedly that science finds no support for moon-farming. Gardeners in many localities have already been delayed by unreasonable weather. When the soil and temperature are right, the garden should be started, even though the moon frowns on the enterprise.

FUTURE OF FRANCE

France continues to have a place in discussions concerning post-war Europe. Allied powers are letting it be known that the nation is to be restored to its proper position as a major factor on the continent. France's territory is to be held inviolate in any peace arrangements made by the Allies.

To that end what form the new government of France may take remains a matter of international speculation and curiosity. The French Committee of National Liberation, operating in far-off Algiers, has been busy for weeks formulating plans for control of at least those portions of the nation which will be liberated as invasion progresses. In these endeavors the committee is getting little sympathy from the Allies, who undoubtedly intend to have their own military government until such time as the nation is free and the French people set up their own political structure.

Strong underground organizations are reported to be favorable to the committee's plans, and will cooperate. Whatever form of government the nation finally adopts, it must be sincere in its determination to restore a great but chastened people to their rightful place in world affairs. A disunited France could bring still greater hardships, which might result in the final disintegration of a once great nation.

ODESSA SYMBOL OF AXIS DEFEAT

Even more than some other notable recent victories, Russia's recapture of the great Black Sea port of Odessa signals the vast pattern of defeat which has been the lot of Adolf Hitler and his armies since the tide turned at Stalingrad.

Full military significance of Odessa's recovery, at this stage of a war which still has to be fought violently to a conclusion, cannot be accurately measured, asserts the Philadelphia Inquirer. But with Stalin's troops finally in control it would seem that the last hope of the thousands of German and Rumanian troops marooned in the Crimea is gone.

Prospects of great improvement in the freedom of operation of Russian Black Sea naval forces are brilliantly increased, with strong likelihood of Soviet flanking operations by sea and air against Rumanian Black Sea areas.

Whatever these conditions may eventually develop, the expulsion of the Nazis from Odessa illustrates forcibly the reasons for the enormous change in the war since the dark days, 32 months ago, when the city crumbled before the relentless German tide.

We may weigh the contribution of the now stalled Allied campaign in Italy, and of Allied air raids, toward the weakening of Nazi strength before Stalin's armies. With propriety the enormous Allied material aid to Russia may be counted to the full of what it is worth.

The fact remains that the Soviet armies are winning, overcoming incalculable difficulties of terrain and transport, in the way the war must be fought and won—on other fronts—by bitter land battles in which our foes are forced either to quit or die.

It may be true as the silly song says that "marcey doats" but that isn't anything to what Hitler and Hirohito will have to eat after the armistice is signed.

We never expected to see the day when Norman Thomas would be regarded by the left-wing brethren as a conservative.

Washington Calling

By MARQUIS CHILDS

Not Isolationist

NEW YORK, April 12.—You sometimes learn more about a political candidate from his friends than from the man himself. One of Governor Dewey's intimates is a man whom the average American has never heard of—John Foster Dulles.

When Dewey speaks of his friend Dulles, it is with affection and admiration. Dulles is his closest adviser on foreign policy and, if Dewey should be elected President, he would probably name Dulles as Secretary of State.

I want to see Dulles to get some idea of his views. He is senior partner of Sullivan and Cromwell, which is perhaps the richest and most powerful law firm in downtown New York. To see him, you go to the 18th floor of a building in Wall Street. You step into a handsome foyer done in the disquieting tradition of the 18th century. Dulles' private office is at the head of an Adam stairway going to the 20th floor.

Dominant Interest

While he has played an important part in the direction of some of America's greatest corporations, Dulles' dominant interest is foreign relations. His grandfather was Secretary of State under Benjamin Harrison and he grew up in an international atmosphere. At the age of 19, he was secretary to one of the delegations at the 1907 Hague peace conference.

Apart from his friendship with the governor, who is 14 years his junior, Dulles has an important influence on foreign policy. He heads a group with the imposing title of the Committee of Direction of the Commission on a Just and Durable Peace, which was established by the Federal Council of Churches of Christ.

In a recent statement, the commission urged not only a general world organization and the regulation of armaments but a far-reaching program of financial and economic adjustment. The basic choice, said the statement, "must be made between international organization designed merely to perpetuate the repression of the particular structure of the world which will emerge from the war" and an international order which, in addition to such use of force under law as is a requisite of order, discharges tasks that are curative and creative."

When Dulles talks about these things, it is with reasonable common sense. He is skeptical of what can be done by arbitrary fiat—by the stroke of a pen.

That, in his opinion, was the error of the 1919 peace-makers—and he was one of them. They leaned too heavily on a formal treaty. Any world organization, Dulles believes, must begin with the fundamental reality of the friendship existing between English-speaking peoples around the world.

Above all, Dulles holds that we can show the way to a decent world order only if we continue to set a dynamic example of what democracy can do. Here, in his view, Roosevelt has failed.

His tone is one of scholarly seriousness, his few public speeches dull. But when he speaks of Dewey, his face kindles. The governor, according to his friend, is a quick learner.

Whether as the result of this friendship or on his own, Dewey is on record for positive international collaboration. In three or four speeches in the first half of 1942, he went a long way. And he is especially proud of the foreign plank in the Republican state platform, which he drafted. That plank reads: "The United States must be prepared to undertake new obligations and responsibilities in the community of nations. We must cooperate with other nations to promote the wider international exchange of goods and services, to broaden access to raw materials, to achieve monetary and economic stability and thus discourage growth of rampant nationalism and its spawn, economic and military aggression. As a further safeguard, we must join with other nations to secure the peace of the world, by force if necessary, against any future outbreaks of international gangsterism."

The isolationists dancing around Willkie's political corpse will find that hard to swallow. Moreover, I believe Dewey will stand by it.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

FREEDOM

Were freedom cheap and could be bought

With money as all things we buy,
Had none for freedom ever fought
And in its service dared to die,
Youth would not now be offering
All.

Were liberty an easy good

As simply gained as jest or song,
And not a dream of brotherhood,
Of right triumphant over wrong,
Men would not rather take the
Than to the power of tyrants yield.

Were freedom less than wealth or fame,

Or life itself and all the years,
Men would not face the battle flame.

To keep it when the foe appears

Their heritage, when they are gone,
For all the ages following on.

But since the first believer spoke

Of freedom, to the present
hour:

The brave have fought against the voice

Of tyrant rule and tyrant power,
And paid no cost too great to pay
That freedom shall not pass away.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

ART OF CONVERSING WITH ADOLESCENT

MOST ADULTS even those highly cultivated in the social graces in their own sphere, have not acquired the art of conversing well with growing children. Few parents, indeed—when hosts, hostesses or guests—prove able to put the child or youth at ease in conversation.

Hesketh Pearson, in his recent biography of George Bernard Shaw, quotes Shaw as saying: "Certain persons used to adapt themselves to my childishness by patting me on the head and talking to me as though I were a child. I resented the personal liberty and despised the unbecoming and offensive posture. They all made the same mistake. Instead of being natural, in which condition they would have been quite childish enough to put me at my ease, they affected imbecility—a very different thing to childishness, and open to instant detection by any sane infant."

Reason For Dislikes

You must have observed that your child—be he 8, 12 or 16—will volunteer certain attitudes toward guests after their departure. He will usually study his remarks at such times and try to ascertain why he liked them or disliked them. Perhaps you will find that he disliked them if they made him feel he was younger and less mature than he supposed himself to be, or if they treated him as a boy or girl, laughed at anything he said, or showed no interest in what he felt to be of great importance. He liked the guests if they did not talk down to him, if they treated him with proper dignity and consideration, if they respected him as a person, if they made him feel worthy—if they made him feel at ease.

We adults are inclined to ask the child silly questions—how old he is, what grade he is in at school, or we marvel at how big he is. We would be wiser to ask him what he gets most fun out of in his work or play. Usually, if we will wait, we need not question him at all to bring him out. Most of all, we need to listen attentively. Should he attempt a joke, let us appreciate it. In the event he propounds a riddle, let us try to solve it—then, on failure to solve it, enjoy his solution.

Sincerity Important

Most of all, we should be sincere in talking to a child, making no gesture or remark or doing anything to suggest that we are trying to take advantage of him or bring ridicule upon him. A good rule is to try to make both him and yourself entirely at ease, just as if you were conversing skillfully with an honored adult friend.

I don't claim to be adept at conversing with children, yet I believe I have gained considerable skill in this direction, for I find that I often can feel comfortable while talking to a child 4, 10 or 18 and often gain assurance that the child feels at ease. I am an optimist, when I talk less and he talks more. It is a fascinating enterprise. Let me commend it to my readers.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. What should I do after my daughter told me in private that I had been rude to her friends on a certain occasion?

A. I should apologize to her and promise her to improve my manners henceforth, thanking her for calling the matter to my attention. I certainly hope I should not be angry at the child over the matter, as the custom of so many parents is.

Q. Have you any suggestions to help me with the four-year-old child who thinks up new ways of calling me back to her after being put to bed?

A. After you have tucked this child into bed, name over the usual bedtime ritual—drink of water, prayers, toilet, kiss, etc. Ask her if there are any others. Then tell her you are not coming back, though you will remain at home. Then make good your word.

Q. How may we encourage our children to study their Sunday school lessons?

A. By making it a rule of the whole family studying the Sunday school lessons, or each his own, on Saturday night. When the international lessons are used, some families read together, or to one another, from the lesson-texts at beginning of meals or other regular times during the week.

Q. My daughter, 12 years old, has stolen from my purse and her father's pockets. Recently she has been taking my paper and pencils from her schoolmates and things from a dime store. A self-addressed envelope is enclosed.

A. Your hope is hardly in punishment but in more understanding, companionship and love, together with a good allowance plan. I'm enclosing my bulletin, "Honesty and Truthfulness."

Q. My son, three, hates the very sight of eggs and avoids all vegetables as if they were poison. With meat, potatoes and pancakes he is happy.

A. If you can show no emotions and have none over his eating and have the faith and courage to let him choose between the proper food offered and nothing, he will gradually learn to eat what he should. In case he holds out for two or more days, call the doctor. If you don't hold out be ashamed of yourself.

Hints On Etiquette

When other people are rude pushing, etc., it does not help matters for you to make remarks about them. Better keep quiet or "pour oil on troubled waters" with some good-natured remark.

Congresswoman Luce Has Manpower Solution
Freshmen Legislator May Solve Big Problem
Pacific Pilots Find Air Opposition Spotty

By HELEN ESSARY
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, April 12.—At long last the manpower puzzle solution—or what will have to pass as such for the time being—now appears to be in sight. Oddly enough, the answer has not come from Manpower Chief Paul V. McNutt, Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey, the Army, Navy, labor or industry—but from Freshman Congressman Clare Booth Luce, the GOP playwright from Connecticut.

For it is out of Mrs. Luce's two proposals for induction of 4-F's and over-age men into some kind of auxiliary work units that the House military subcommittee is now fashioning legislation to meet demands of essential industry.

The first Luce bill—providing for creation of an auxiliary, uniformed Army corps—was politely and firmly pigeon-holed in the House military committee of which she is a member. Meanwhile, President Roosevelt issued his conditional endorsement of national service legislation, draft quotas fell behind, more and more pre-war fathers were being inducted and confusion mounted on the military side.

Some selective service leaders saw the germ of a solution in the original Luce bill. But still nothing happened.

Early in the new session of Congress, Mrs. Luce quietly drew up a brief bill modifying her original plan and dropped it in the hopper. It provided for induction of 4-F's and over-age men for assignment to essential "seasonal" employment, limiting the work corps to 200,000 men.

Whatever legislation is sent to the House floor, it probably will not bear Mrs. Luce's name, but it will no doubt embrace her formula.

Jap Air Power Mystery

Although American pilots continue to knock down Jap airmen at ratios ranging from five-to-one to 12-to-one, United States flyers returning from the Pacific war zones display no signs of over-optimism.

Some crack American pilots say they never know when they go up to meet an enemy formation whether they will run into tough opponents or ones that are easy to shoot down.

This point was illustrated by Lieut. Comdr. John Blackburn, of the famous Navy Skull and Crossbones fighter squadron.

Blackburn said one day he and his boys would meet opponents who seemed to be members of Japan's "first team." Other days, he said, the enemy opposition would indicate the Japs were mere cadets on their first combat flight.

Recent resignation of Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr. from the Senate to go on active duty overseas as an Army major has political as well as patriotic implications.

Lodge went to war because he felt with his youth and military training, he belonged in combat on the firing line.

Observers taking the long view expect Lodge's military service will be an invaluable political asset when the war ends. Should he survive the conflict, his stature in politics will be great—and the White House may some day be the goal.

Better Fruits Coming

Government officials predict better quality strawberries and tomatoes after the war—shipped up north by fast air express. Surveys on cost comparisons show that tomatoes shipped by air to Detroit from Miami, Fla., would cost about 6 cents more per pound and strawberries about 5 cents more per box.

Having been picked ripe in the fields, the tomatoes say the experts, and the strawberries will have finer flavor than the green variety ripened in warehouses.

Senator Homer Ferguson (R) of Michigan is hot on the trail of wasted manpower these days. A member of the Senate military affairs committee, Ferguson is sparking a subcommittee probe of gross waste of manpower in war industries. He and other Senators went to Mobile, Ala. to determine just how efficiently shipyards are operating.

If labor excesses are uncovered, the committee—with a full brocade of evidence already taken behind closed doors—is expected to demand a full-scale inquiry of the entire manpower situation.

Spring is here, indeed. Not because the robins are chirping outside. Not because the crocus is out or because the forsythia is in bloom.

No, spring is here, because the press agent of the big circus has just been in my office to tell me about the REAL wonders of spring.

He overwhelmed me with superlatives, he threw adjectives at me, thumped me on the chest and left a lengthy article about the big show.

That, as every newspaperman and every boy knows, is SPRING! In unraveling its manifold marvels before the eyes of the spectators, reads the article, "the gigantic 1944 performance clearly reflects the genius of its producers, who have skillfully and deftly woven its sparkling attractions into an enthralling work of art."

Yes, dear reader, what is a Bluebird or a violet compared with what the circus brings?

Declares Navy Finds Answer To Jap Aggression

PHILADELPHIA, April 12.—(INS)—The Navy has "found the answer to Jap aggression" in its new methods of attack, Rear Admiral John J. Gaffney asserted in Philadelphia today.

Admiral Gaffney, who was stationed at Pearl Harbor during the Japanese "sneak attack" is supply officer for the central Pacific. "Since the Navy took the offensive," he declared, "every need has been met adequately. At no time has it been 'too little too late.' We think we have found the answer to Jap aggression. The enemy does not know how to meet our present methods of attack."

The Japs made a big mistake at Pearl Harbor by failing to destroy fuel storage tanks, Admiral Gaffney said.

"It was tough enough to lose the fleet but we would have been helpless without our storage of oil. Some day we'll retake Borneo and refineries will not be needed because the crude oil of that region can be burned in our ships."

He revealed a recent "tragedy" on the island of Roi in the Marshalls.

"The Japs blew up an ammunition dump, and sad to relate, accidentally destroyed 4,000 cases of beer."

Gaffney also told of a promise made to him by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz.

"When the Navy conquers the Pacific," he said, "I am to be treasurer of the island empire—that was Japan."

Anglo-American Oil Conference To Occur Next Week

WASHINGTON, April 12.—(INS)—The state department announced today that an Anglo-American oil conference will be held in Washington beginning next week.

The conference will consider all problems relating to oil in which the two governments are interested, including the proposed Saudi Arabia pipeline.

The discussions will be of a preliminary and exploratory nature, with no decisions affecting producing areas until the governments concerned have been consulted.

Indict Thirty At Weirton, W. Va.

NEW CUMBERLAND, W. Va., April 12.—(INS)—Thirty CIO United Steel Workers were under indictment today on felony and misdemeanor charges resulting from recent union-organization incidents at the Weirton Steel company's plant, Weirton, W. Va.

A Hancock county grand jury returned true bills on charges of unlawful assembly against 25 of them. The five others were accused of felonies in alleged violation of the "Redmond act," in which they were charged with "inflicting bodily injury pursuant to a conspiracy."

Prosecutor William J. Moore said all have been notified to appear April 22 before Circuit Judge J. Harold Brennan, who will hear arguments for a change of venue.

After the accused men had been arrested for distributing CIO union handbills to Weirton steel workers, Gov. M. M. Neely ordered state police to take over law enforcement in Weirton.

MARINES WINNERS IN BONDS, STAMPS SALES

Word comes from the office of Mahoning school that $378.75 was realized from the sales of decorated Easter eggs purchased and sold by the pupils of the school. These eggs had war stamps attached, amounting to 50 cents and $1 each.

The campaign put on by the school, from February 16 to April 6, war bonds and stamps sold reached the total of $3769. The pupils were divided into two teams, "Marines" and "Seabees," the Marines finally winning the victory after a nip and tuck contest throughout. The Marines sales were $1928 and the Seabees $1841.

From September to April 6, the amount of sales and purchases comes to $22,550; this exceeds the total for the term ending in the summer of 1943 by about $2000.

The teachers committee in charge of the campaign are gratified with the results and thank the pupils for the splendid cooperation.

Acquittal Verdict Ordered By Court

SCRANTON, Pa., April 12.—(INS)—Walter Ziemba, 38, former Fell township school director, won a directed verdict of acquittal today on charges that he killed his father-in-law last January 7.

Ziemba's counsel asked Judge M. J. Eagen to direct the all-woman jury hearing the case to hand down a verdict of not guilty after the prosecution had rested its case. Evidence was based on circumstantial evidence.

"You can't guess a man into jail," commented Judge Eagen in granting the defense motion.

The prosecution contended that Ralph Yusavitz, 61, was beaten to death by Ziemba, a tavern keeper, at Ziemba's home in Simpson, but defense maintained that he died from a fall.

Kite Interrupts Supply Of Current

Children Are Warned Not To Fly Kites Near Electric Power Lines

A boy's kite caused momentary interruptions to the power supply to a number of war production industries in this area yesterday.

The kite apparently broke away from the flyer and lodged in a transmission line in the vicinity of O'Brien avenue, west of New Castle. Wind and rain caused the kite to short circuit the power line, which resulted in two momentary interruptions to the power supply. While there was no extended period of interruption, the temporary voltage drop resulted in the stopping of motors in a number of plants. Line-men of the Pennsylvania Power company were called and removed the kite from the line.

Each year at this season the kite flying hazard threatens power interruptions and accidents, and school authorities and Power company officials have warned children to refrain from flying kites in the neighborhood of electric lines. The kite string, particularly if wet or if it contains any metallic cord, may cause a short circuit, such as that yesterday, thereby threatening power service to the entire area.

Quarterly Social Security Returns Due On April 30

As April 30, the time for filing another quarterly social security tax return approaches, J. E. Marquis, acting manager of the local Social Security Board office, reminded employers to make certain they report each employee's name and social security number correctly. In this way, he said, they will save the time and expense of later having to check back on their pay-roll records to correct any errors.

Mr. Marquis said practically all employers have learned the importance of reporting correctly their employees' account numbers and names as well as their wages. But occasionally, he said, an employee's account number will be missing from an employer's report or the number will be slightly incorrect, or the employee's name will be spelled wrong. "In these cases," he said, "we must ask the employer to check back on his records and supply the correct information." Such check-backs consume time and are expensive for the employer.

According to the law, the employer is responsible for maintaining a record of the employee's name, account number and wages and for reporting these correctly to the government. Mr. Marquis pointed out. The next quarterly social security tax return covering January, February and March is due on or before April 30.

Reach Agreement On Proposals For Special Session

Bi-Partisan Leaders Agree On Plan For Session To Start
May 1

HARRISBURG, April 12.—(INS)—Full agreement was reached on Tuesday by bi-partisan leaders on legislation to be presented to the general assembly when it meets May 1 for a one-week session to liberalize absentee balloting for members of the armed forces.

A group, composed of Democratic and Republican leaders of the House and Senate, met with officials of the State Department of Justice and agreed on the following essential points, to be submitted to Gov. Edward Martin April 20 for his expected approval:

1. Automatic mailing of pre-addressed ballots to all members of the armed forces eligible to vote, at home and abroad, and to members of associated war service groups such as the American Red Cross.

2. Extension of the time limitation for voting to more than 100 days.

3. Absentee registration of military personnel on a "military ballot day" to be set by Governor Martin in a proclamation to be issued around August 1. On that day election officials will sit at polling booths to receive the names of military personnel submitted by members of the Civilian Defense organization, patriotic bodies, relatives, friends, etc.

Submit Five Bills.
Five bills will be submitted to the general assembly embodying the above points and providing for the general expenses of the special session, explained Deputy Attorney General William M. Rutter, one of the conferees.

Ballots will be mailed out within 10 days after the governor has issued his proclamation. The deadline for counting the ballots was set at 15 days after the November 7 general election.

Following the conference, Rutter declared that "they (the conferees) have agreed on the essentials of all necessary legislation, the object of which is to enable all those in military service to vote, whether at home or abroad. They have agreed on automatic mailing of ballots. It will be automatic to the extent that every one in military service will be sent a ballot without previous applications."

Rep. Franklin H. Lichtenwalter, House majority leader, said that "we will suggest to the legislature the most liberal military ballot act of which we are aware in the nation at this time."

Other members of the committee concurred in this statement. Sen. Bernard B. McGinnis, Senate minority leader, said that "a sincere effort has been made by Gov. Edward Martin and the leaders of both parties to enact legislation that would give every possible opportunity for every person in the armed services and auxiliary war service agencies a chance to vote. This is one piece of legislation that both parties see eye to eye on."

Rep. Reuben Cohen, House minority leader, commented that "the Democratic party desire to secure an adequate and liberal soldiers' voting bill has been met by the adoption by the drafting committee of legislation to be submitted to Governor Martin."

Plan For Special Community Prayers On Invasion Day

WARREN, Pa., April 12.—(INS)—The Warren County Ministerial association today announced appointment of a committee to arrange special community prayers to be held on "invasion day"—when the Allied armies attack Adolf Hitler's fortress Europe.

Business establishments will be asked to set a side time on that day for prayer and meditation for employees who may not have had time to attend church services.

The defense council, factories and municipal departments will be asked to co-operate in broadcasting the invasion news.

GET AN EARLY START IN RASPBERRY PLANTING

Raspberries are among the most successful of the fruits which can be grown for home use, but the planting should not include both red and black varieties.

Plants should be set as early in spring as the soil can be prepared. Medium to light loams are preferable to heavy clay, sandy or gravelly soil. Good drainage is essential to success as the raspberry is one plant that will not tolerate "wet feet".

A site having fine air drainage will offer protection against spring frosts or winter killing. If the soil is lacking in fertility, an application of manure should be turned under, with a top-dressing of well-rotted manure after plowing.

In addition, complete fertilizer, such as 5-10-5, will be of added benefit, tests at the Pennsylvania State college have shown. This may be broadcast and plowed under, or worked in with harrow as the soil is prepared. Twelve to 24 pounds for each 1,000 square feet is suggested. Slight acidity may not be harmful, but lime should be added if the soil is extremely acid.

Raspberries should be planted in rows which are 7 to 10 feet apart for easy cultivating. Red raspberries should be 2½ feet apart in the row, while black raspberries need three feet between plants.

Because the roots must be guarded against drying out during planting the soil should be worked to a firm, even and well-pulverized seed-bed before planting. The hole should be large enough to accommodate the roots without crowding them, and deep enough to allow the plant to stand one or two inches deeper than it stood originally. Soil should be firm over the roots, exercising care that the tender, new shoots are not injured. Fill with loose earth, leaving a slight depression around each plant until the first shoots appear above the ground level.

With black raspberries, the old stem should be cut off even with the ground at planting time. With the red varieties, remove the old stem at a point about six inches above the ground. Begin cultivation soon after planting and continue at intervals to prevent weeds from getting a start.

BEEKEEPERS BUSY AS BUDS BEGIN TO BURST

Over much of the state, maple trees are beginning to bloom, pussy willows appear and elm buds are swollen. To the beekeeper, these are indications of spring activity in the bee hive.

As soon as pollen from these plants is available, the honeybee begins rearing broods on a large scale to build up an enormous population for collection of the honey crop to come.

Orchardists also recognize these signs as an indicator that it is time to arrange for bees to pollinate fruit. Those who previously depended on package bees for pollination services may find themselves without bees unless orders were placed last fall. This leaves only one source of bees for pollination, and that is the local beekeeper. Arrangements often can be made between local beekeepers and fruit growers for mutual benefit.

While the fruit grower stands to profit by such arrangements, beekeepers take chances of having the bees poisoned by arsenic sprays. Specialists at the Pennsylvania State college also point out that it is seldom that surplus honey in quantity is produced from fruit bloom because of unfavorable weather conditions prevailing at this season. The value of bees in pollinating fruit and seed crops, increasing their yields, is many times that of honey produced.

SELECT BEST FOREST TREES FOR PLANTING

April ushers in the season of forest tree planting. Since trees need a long time to grow, only the kinds which are known to produce the materials and benefits wanted should be planted.

Extension foresters of the Pennsylvania State College suggests a few crops and the trees best suited to grow them.

For fence posts—Locust, walnut, wild cherry, white oak, and red cedar. For Christmas trees—Red Pine, Scotch pine, Austrian pine, Norway spruce, White spruce, Colorado blue spruce, balsam fir, and Douglas fir. For Mine Timber—Larch, pitch pine, Austrian pine, oaks, ash, hard maple, and wild cherry.

For lumber—White pine, red pine, pitch pine, larch, hemlock, poplar, oaks, ash, cherry, and maple.

RIGHT WALLPAPER CAN CORRECT ROOM DEFECTS

Homemakers in Lawrence County who need new wallpaper this spring will find some to fit their needs though they will find the range of colors, designs, and qualities limited.

Because of these limitations, homemakers will have to plan more carefully and make their selections more wisely than in previous years to get harmonious results.

Wallpapers may be found to correct room defects. For example, there are suitable stripes for rooms with low ceilings, small patterns, or plain papers that make small rooms appear larger, or large patterns for large rooms. There are many combinations of plain, striped, and floral papers in matching colors, that can be mixed to change the apparent length or width of a room.

Wallpapers are designed to fit rooms with different exposures. Cool colors, such as warm grays, blue, and green, can be used in south and west rooms because they usually get the most light. For north and east rooms, warm colors like creams, yellows, and rose, are most suitable.

Exception for bedrooms, do not consider each room as a separate unit, but choose paper in relation to the way in which the room is used and to harmonize with the rest of the house. For example, the living room which is shared by family and friends should not have a paper that is too extreme.

Happy at Finding Relief
With Cereal Food!

If you've often despaired of finding lasting relief—read this unusual letter!

"I cannot forgive myself for not trying your KELLLOGG'S ALL-BRAN many years ago. My constipation kept me busy digging in for money to pay for laxatives. I tried every one I could find, but got only slight relief. I have been eating KELLLOGG'S ALL-BRAN for three weeks now, and am as regular as can be." Mr. Thomas Lewis, 38½ Fourth Avenue, N. E., St. Petersburg, Fla.

Scientists say one common cause of constipation is lack of sufficient "cellulose" elements in the diet! But Nature has made KELLLOGG'S ALL-BRAN one of her most effective sources of these important elements! They help the friendly colonic flora fluff up and prepare the colonic contents for easy, natural evacuation. KELLLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is not a purgative! Doesn't "sweep you out!" It's a gentle-acting, "regulating" food!

If you have constipation of this type, eat KELLLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly with milk and fruit, or mixed with other cereals. Drink plenty of water. See if you, too, don't get real help! Insist on genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

World's Largest Airline Is Army's Ferrying Division

Newsman Tour War Department Installations On Huge World-Wide Operation

By ARTHUR F. HERMANN
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 9.—(Delayed)—The story of the world's largest airline—the army's ferrying division—was unfolded today by a large group of reporters and radio commentators at Memphis, Tenn., flight center of the world-wide operation.

During a tour of war department installations in the southern part of the United States, the newsmen were given a graphic description of the part the air transport command is playing in delivering more than 100 types of airplanes to training centers within the country, to the 15 fighting air forces abroad, and to the air forces of the other United Nations.

"Fireball Express"
Most spectacular of the 110,000 miles of air lines flown is the "Fireball Express," flying from Miami, Fla., to India, a distance of 15,000 miles in four days.

Officers of the ferrying division explained that this route, inaugurated in November, 1943, moves planes on the round trip in eight days, although crews working in days take as long as 30 days to make the one-way run. Over the route travel fresh combat crews for the Indian and Chinese war theatre, as well as much needed supplies and equipment for the far east fighting fronts.

Less sensational, but vitally important to the war effort is the ferrying division's work in moving airplanes from production lines to distribution points in the United States. The magnitude of this task may be gauged from the fact that in March more than 9,000 planes rolled out from war plants in the United States.

Accomplish Great Work
Pilots and crews of the ferrying division have accomplished such feats as flying the north Atlantic to England in winter, flying two-motored P-38's across the south Atlantic and flying both these ships and the single-engine P-47 "Thunderbolts" across the north Atlantic with the aid of spare gasoline tanks.

As the war operations are carried out, officers declared, there is a constant program of crew training to enable the men to handle larger and more difficult aircraft and in some instance to ready them for combat flying against the enemy. Battle-weary pilots from Europe and the south Pacific are rotated back to the ferrying division to be given flight experience which will enable them to handle bigger ships and receive additional types of flight training.

Despite the magnitude of the operation, the ferrying division boasts of an accident rate one-third that of the army air forces as a whole.

LOAN FUND AIDS 800
STATE COLLEGE, Pa.—The Estelle H. Hetzel Loan Fund established at the Pennsylvania State College in 1940, already has been utilized by more than 800 students. Less than $100 of the $8,000 borrowed by students is still outstanding.

LEESBURG

The Searchlight Bible class will have their regular meeting at the church April 13. A tureen dinner will be served at 6:30.

Arthur Armstrong, of New Castle, spent a day with his mother, Mrs. Maude Martin.

Mrs. Curtis McKee and Mrs. John Hayne were callers at Slippery Rock.

Mrs. William Campbell and family, of West Middlesex Heights, and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Mathieson and daughter, of Grove City, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Marshall.

Christina Ryhal, of Grove City, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Culver.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Geiger and family, of Jackson Center, Jackie Stone, of Mercer, and Mr. and Mrs. Stone, of Jackson Center, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Hayne. A birthday cake was baked by Mrs. Geiger for her son, Joseph Geiger, Jr., who celebrated his birthday April 10.

Andrew Geiger, of Jackson Center, spent Saturday evening with Virginia Hayne.

Miss Katherine F. Lenoir, chief of the children's bureau, said the finding was based on the records of 146 courts which handled about 94,000 cases in 1943 compared to 72,000 the previous year.

In 111 courts reporting to the children's bureau, the number of cases disposed of increased. In four counties in which large cities are situated, the number of cases has more than doubled, and increases of 50 per cent or more were not uncommon in other courts. Records of 29 courts showed a decrease and in five no change was registered.

A slightly greater increase in boys' than in girls' cases was indicated last year, a reversal of the situation during the two previous years. Boys' cases represent more than four-fifths of the total.

Miss Lenoir declared the induction of fathers will increase wartime pressures on children and youth which lead in some cases to delinquent behavior. She urged that further provision be made for adequate day care of children of work-mothers and that other child welfare services within the community be strengthened.

Statistics show that most men of 25 marry women of 22, but most men of 35 marry women of 28.

Delinquency Of

Increase In State

WASHINGTON, April 12.—(INS)—The labor department reported today that the number of juvenile delinquency cases disposed of by representative juvenile courts last year increased 31 per cent over the 1942 figure.

Miss Katherine F. Lenoir, chief of the children's bureau, said the finding was based on the records of 146 courts which handled about 94,000 cases in 1943 compared to 72,000 the previous year.

As the war operations are carried out, officers declared, there is a constant program of crew training to enable the men to handle larger and more difficult aircraft and in some instance to ready them for combat flying against the enemy. Battle-weary pilots from Europe and the south Pacific are rotated back to the ferrying division to be given flight experience which will enable them to handle bigger ships and receive additional types of flight training.

Despite the magnitude of the operation, the ferrying division boasts of an accident rate one-third that of the army air forces as a whole.

Attorney Joseph R. McFate Shows Reels On Historic Spots In State

New Castle Lions club members had an enjoyable program in connection with their noon luncheon meeting Tuesday when Attorney Joseph A. McFate showed them two reels of color movies taken of various scenic and historical spots in the state.

These pictures have been taken by Mr. McFate over a period of years and pieced together into two splendid reels.

Historic spots in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Gettysburg, Valley Forge, Fort Mifflin and other spots were shown, as well as scenic points of beauty throughout the state, including some of Lawrence county.

Members enjoyed the showing and the explanatory remarks by Mr. McFate.

Major J. L. Reed, a member of the club, who is home on furlough from Fort Story, Va., where he has been stationed for some time in charge of the dental clinic of that area, was present at the meeting and greeted his fellow Lions.

Contracts Are Let By City Council

City fathers were contract minded when they convened in session in city hall; in fact, they handed out three, one a point job, another a sewer project and the third, a uniform award.

Charles McClain company, Altoona, won a contract to paint the Mahoning avenue viaduct on a price unit or total of $6,877. The contract was contingent upon the approval of the B. & O. P. & O. and Erie railroads. The P. & O. railroad will paint its own share of the viaduct. The other railroads will, if the contract is acceptable, reimburse the city.

The New Castle Duntile company received the contract for installing the Neal street drainage system on a unit price basis, or a total of $6,204.75.

HEALTH QUIZ

Do you have poor digestion? ☐ YES ☐ NO
Do you feel headachy after eating? ☐ YES ☐ NO
Do you get sour or upset easily? ☐ YES ☐ NO
Do you feel tired—listless? ☐ YES ☐ NO

Now everyone knows that to get the good out of the food you eat—you must digest it properly. But what most people don't know is that Nature must produce about two pints of the digestive juice—liver bile—each day to help digest your food. If Nature fails, your food may remain undigested, lie sour and heavy within you. Thus, it is simple to see that one way to aid digestion is to increase the flow of liver bile. Now, Carter's Little Liver Pills start to increase this flow quickly for thousands—often in as little as thirty minutes. When bile flow increases, your digestion may improve. And, soon you're on the road to feeling better—which is what you're after.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's, taken as directed, aid digestion after Nature's own order. Get Carter's Little Liver Pills today—only 25¢. You'll be glad you did.

Denies Political Significance In Shooting Attempt

PITTSBURGH, April 12.—(INS)—Mexico's minister plenipotentiary to the United States, Rafael de la Colina, was on record today in a Pittsburgh address as saying the attempted assassination of President Manuel Avila Camacho had no political significance.

The war has brought the United States and Mexico into such close economic relations, he said, that the framework of postwar economic development between the countries already is established.

His address was a preliminary to the meeting of the Inter-American Institute scheduled for tomorrow, Friday and Saturday in Pittsburgh. He left last night for Chicago.

Pro Football Loop Set To Continue At Any Cost

Moguls Fear Baseball May Move In If Play Halted Even For Season

By DAVIS J. WALSH
(I. N. S. Sports Writer)

CHICAGO, April 12.—You can go out and make book on it. The pro-league will play football this coming season, and for all others that are to follow, no matter whether all 4-F's are siphoned into the manpower maw and hardened old arteries around the age limit are put to work with a road gang. It'll do this not so much because it's convinced it can, but that it must. For if the National Football League is convinced of anything at this time, it is the fact that in continuance at any cost lies survival.

Probably not even to itself does it admit the truth. But deep down under its crust is the conviction that, if it moves out on its pitch even for a season, baseball might move it.

Baseball Eyes Grosses

Baseball has been at no particular pains to dispel this natural feeling of alarm. In fact, its Branch Rickeys and others of similar persuasion have been visibly impressed both with the 1943 grosses of the pro league and a belated realization that baseball has a 12-month "overhead" on a 5½-month game; with the result that the devout Rickey has issued a few pontifical utterances on the subject.

There could be no feasible reason, said he, why there should not be no league in operation during the war. Then Rickey's might readily turn out to be the only league able to resume after it's over.

Largely due to a fluke, no doubt. The pro league, anyhow, plays practically all of its games at major league ball parks.

In other words, if there were no pro league operating at the finish of the war, then Rickey's second league might easily become the first league.

It might be interesting at this point to mention the fact it's generally understood that P. K. Wrigley of the Chicago Cubs has some stimulating views on this subject.

See 12-Months Idea

He's said to hold that. . . If baseball had started out to promote the other game 20-odd years ago, when pro football did. . . there might now be no other game. That, in brief, both are 12-month promotions which merely have short playing seasons; that their interests and sympathies are opposed, if not deeply estranged. And that any man (or set of men) proposing to promote both must wind up with one taking something from the other.

But even with this wholly unconfirmed assurance from at least one baseball man of considerable prestige, the pro league is apparently committed to a policy of settled suspicion. . . and a determination to keep playing through the war somehow.

All told, that'll be an interesting meeting the pro league is to hold back in Philadelphia next week. It will go there with all the outward aspects of a successful organization; but there's too much front, not enough substance. The major

OS BLUEGE LIKES

TORRES AT THIRD

COLLEGE PARK, Md., April 12.—(INS)—Gilbert Torres, tall, slender Cuban, appeared today to have a foothold on the third base position with the Washington Senators. Manager Ossie Bluege said the more "I see of the other candidates, the better I like Torres for the job." The senators meet the Philadelphia Phillies at Fort George Meade, Md., today.

Ex-Golfer Runyan Now Traffic Cop

Paul Turns On Lights At Norfolk Naval Base For $126 A Month

(International News Service) NORFOLK, Va., April 12.—Paul Runyan, who as a leading golf professional often turned the red light on such links stalwarts as Sammy Sneed and Craig Wood, now turns the red light on motorists here at the Norfolk naval base.

The midge put and spoon performer serves his turn here as a traffic cop.

Runyan, being the same diffident person he was in civilian life, refuses to talk about that, however. "During last season I gave 3,128 lessons to 703 different officers," Paul tells you.

What the modest little fellow fails to tell, however, is the fact that this number of lessons in private life converted into cold cash, at Runyan's usual rates, would amount to over $10,000. Runyan earns $126 per month as Chief Specialist Mate in the Physical Training department.

Tried for Stripes
Again what Paul doesn't tell you is that all winter long he attended officer's school in an effort to gain a commission.

"I couldn't make the grade," he explains when you question him about his effort, "because I didn't have enough schooling. But I'll keep trying."

He held the National PGA title in '34. Golf fans will long remember that steaming hot day at Shawnee-on-the-Delaware when the diminutive perseverer took huge Sam Sneed, now also in the navy, apart like a tired mechanic handles a Model T Ford.

In good years, Runyan earned more than twenty grand. He roamed the golden trail of golf, living in the swankiest resort hotels in the land. Yet he seems just as happy here treading the well trimmed grass at this mighty navy base at $126 a month.

"BOBO" UNSIGNED
FREDERICK, Md., April 12.—(INS)—Buck "Bobo" Newsum remained on the sidelines at the Athletics' training camp today while his 1944 contract to play for Cinnin Mack remained unsigned.

"Old Bobo" has assured everyone that he intends to sign in a "day or two." Meanwhile, the Athletics chalked up a 3-1, four-inning "decision" over the Toronto Maple Leafs yesterday in an exhibition game.

PHILS AT MEADE
FT. MEADE, Md.—The Philadelphia Blue Jays traveled to Ft. Meade today for an exhibition game with the Washington Senators. Al Gerheuser or Dick Barrett were scheduled to start for the Phils according to Manager Freddie Fitzsimmons. The Senators and Quakers have split a pair of contests in pre-season play.

DONALD BEATS BRAVES
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—The New York Yankees are looking up today after yesterday's 5 to 4 exhibition victory over the Boston Braves, their sixth triumph in seven Atlantic City games.

Atley Donald looked better than he did in his debut in Frederick, Md., yielding only four hits in as many innings and keeping the Braves runless.

"NEED PITCHING," RICKEY
BEAR MOUNTAIN, N. Y.—A tip-off on what the Brooklyn Dodgers need most (outside of an infield) is seen in resident Branch Rickey's statement that the Bums need "pitching, and in quantity."

"There are only six pitchers we now can count on—Fred Ostermuller, Hal Gregg, Less Webber, Whit Wyatt, Curt Davis and Bob Chipman," Rickey said.

PHIL BAKER, the $64 question man, asks, "Are you wearing an Adam Hat?" His own answer is, "I am and it's a honey."

Fair Or Foul

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, April 12.—Ever since Brother Branch Rickey came to the Brooklyn Dodgers he has been pestering around trying to ingenuo and command to get Manager Leo Durocher to play again. Leo and everybody else knew all along that he was through, but Brother Branch somehow found it irksome to be paying an able-bodied man to manage the club when he might be both managing and playing.

Leo, a stubborn individual when he sets out to be resisted newspaper reports that he would go into action again.

"Who me? They must be talking about somebody else," Durocher said a few weeks ago when word drifted to him in Florida that a Rickey movement was afoot in Brooklyn to get him back at shortstop, where he starred valiantly and brilliantly until, Spavins, bowed tendon, chipped coronets, and generally all around old age overtook him a couple of seasons ago.

'Acorns On Elbow'
Then when he came north he revealed he had an ailment which he called "acorns on the elbow," causing Brother Branch to arch his brows, tilt his cigar, peer wide-eyed, and look with such quizzical intent at his manager that the latter began to strip off his coat and point out symptoms of the malady.

"Acorns on the elbow," Brother Branch repeated. "Just what are acorns on the elbow, Leo?"

"They're right in there," said Durocher, wig-wagging his arm and pointing toward his elbow.

Durocher explained it was something like bone chips or calcium deposits. You could tell you had it when you started to throw and couldn't get any zing on the ball.

Some suspected that Leo had figured out that if he could come up with a malady hidden to the naked eye, he could escape the ordeal of hobbling around shortstop or second base all summer, yet Brother Branch was not entirely convinced.

And there was Leo out there playing in an exhibition game for the Dodgers and it looked like a clean-cut triumph for Brother Branch.

But Durocher doesn't give up that easily. On Sunday afternoon, he reached out with the bare hand, and in stopping a throw with his thumb, broke it in two places. He is through as a player.

Let Brother Branch laugh that one off and let him remember he will have to get up mighty early to put one over on that Durocher.

Mancini Scores Knockout In First

NEW YORK, April 12.—(INS)—A knockout victory was held today by Lenny Mancini, of Youngstown, O., over Tiger Nelson, of Washington after their abbreviated bout in Broadway Arena.

Mancini, 143½, slammed Nelson to the floor after 51 seconds in the first round of the scheduled eight rounds, but Nelson, who apparently miscalculated the referee's counting, jumped up at 10. The referee, however, ended the fight despite the loser's protests.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Chief Justice George W. Maxey, supreme court, is an enthusiast of boxing. The Lackawanna county jurist not only includes Lieut.-Com. Lieut.-Commander Jack Dempsey and Patsy Brannigan, the former great bantam-featherweight as close friends, and hopes to meet George Chip, former middleweight champion, and once a Lackawanna county resident, when he next visits this city, probably this summer.

This was the information given out by Tom Cunningham, florist and vocalist today following a visit some time ago with the honorable jurist in Pittsburgh.

Not so long ago, Brannigan visited Scranton. He has relatives at Minooka. He had been invited to call upon the judge but the latter was out of the city.

However, acquaintances of Judge Maxey notified the jurist that the sorrel-top was there. The judge ordered his chauffeur to take Pat wherever he desired to go and to treat him as a friend of the judge.

Not so long ago the judge was here. He spoke at the First Congregational church. He was the guest of the Rev. Thomas J. Jones. The judge increased his friends here.

Ohio Dominates AAU Mitt Event

Whittington scored with Joe Gannon in the 147-pound bracket, and Frank Sweeney in the 160 class.

New York's pride was Cecil Schoonmaker, the 112-pound champion.

Basketball Will Be Played At Westminster During 1944-45 Season

NEW WILMINGTON, April 12.—Westminster college Athletic Director Grover C. Washabaugh has turned on the "go ahead" light for basketball here, and is arranging next year's cage schedule for the towering Titans.

Games, on a home and home basis, with Carnegie Tech and Washington are already in the books. A tentative contest with the University of Mexico has been arranged for the local gymnasium, January 4, when Mexico will be making a tour of the east.

Coach Washabaugh has been contacted by Ned Irish, New York and Buffalo promoter, who stated that Westminster would be asked to Madison Square Garden and Buffalo again during the next basketball campaign.

Sportsmen Hold Trout Session

Advised Application Must Be Made To WPB For Shells To Kill Vermin

Members of the Lawrence County Sportsmen's association held their last pre-trout season meeting last night in the Neshannock hall of the V. F. W. No. 315, East Washington street. Fishermen were advised to respect the fish law and also the property-rights of ruralites.

Congressman Louis E. Graham advised the association that in order to procure shells for the death of vermin an application would necessarily have to be made to the WPB and if such shells were issued they would be under the control of game wardens for organized vermin hunts.

The trout season opens at 5 a. m. Saturday.

Two hundred members attended the meeting.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 12.—(INS)—The Pittsburgh Pirates were jubilant today after defeating the Cleveland Indians three to one in an exhibition game, with Nick Strincevich and Xavier Rescigno hurling for the Bucs. Together they gave seven hits.

Allie Reynolds and Paul Calvert, pitching for the Indians, permitted only five hits, but the Pirates capitalized on them. Jimmy Russell flashed speed by reaching home on an infield tap after Cleveland fumbled the ball.

STOCK MARKET LITTLE CHANGED

Rails And Some Industrials Reflect Minor Advances In Morning Trading

NEW YORK, April 12.—(INS)—A selective demand continued for the year ending to new highs in the stock market today, but gains generally were small. The carriers added large fractions to yesterday's good advances, while the rest of the list held barely steady. Trading was moderately active.

Union Pacific and Great Northern preferred were leaders of the rails, rising fractionally to new highs for the year and longer. Southern Pacific also was in demand at slightly improved prices.

Expect To Get 250,000 Men In Under 26 Group

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 12.—(INS)—The armed forces apparently likely today to obtain upward of 250,000 men from the nation's pool of under 26 year old manpower after allowances are made for 4-F's and deferments in a small list of "super critical" war activities.

Military sources described such a figure, if borne out in actual inductions in the next few weeks, as "very substantial," expressing belief that the war manpower commission's inter-agency committee on deferments had "done a good job."

The committee was charged with the task of designating the most vital war programs which will receive limited deferments of key workers in the 22-26 year age bracket, the plants and quotas for deferments in each activity.

Submits List
National Draft Chief Lewis B. Hershey transmitted the committee's list of 12 activities plus two others—coal mining and certain students—which were recommended by WMC Chairman Paul V. McNutt, to state directors as entitled to deferment consideration for irreplaceable young workers.

Indications are that the inter-agency committee will establish an over-all quota for 75,000 to 80,000 deferments of men under 26 in these highly critical activities, although requests have been received so far from federal claimant agencies for 115,000 to 120,000. The WPB, the navy and ODT have not finally completed their requests with the total expected to reach 135,000.

The next meeting of the committee will be held as soon as these three agencies notify McNutt they have completed the list of individual plants where deferments will be sought.

BREAST FEEDING

The most important persons in our community are the mothers. They should have the best of care and be honored above all.

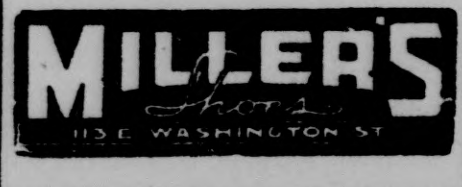

The persons who need the most care and attention are the babies. Baby should be breast fed if at all possible. Mothers should be encouraged to nurse their babies. If a mother has a job it is a difficult proposition to nurse the baby. Babies are more important than jobs even in war time.

Some special provision should be made for nursing mothers.

Artificial feeding is good nowadays. Breast milk is much better. Breast feeding is better for the baby and better for the mother, too. Get the baby baptized. It helps some, too.

OCD NOTES

Three months have almost elapsed since there was an air raid drill which causes the local OCD to warn members of the organization here to be on the alert for a possible air raid drill or black-out. During January army officials announced there would be an alert every three months, hence the warning. Be sure to have an arm band and other credentials on your person. Spares may be obtained at the city hall office of CD if arm bands have been lost.

Should any person believe they are entitled to a ribbon award they should bring their figures to the CD and Frank Sargent, co-ordinator will assist in compiling the record and application for the award.

With spring here and summer not so far distant it is likely that some out-of-the-ordinary events will be arranged by the officials and group leaders of the city CD. Events will go far toward keeping the members interested.

Wickard Warns On Complacency In Garden Work

BOSTON, April 12.—(INS)—Agriculture Secretary Wickard, asserting "the battle on the food front" has not yet been won, warned civilians today against complacency and failure to produce victory garden crops this year.

Wickard said in spite of pleas from the War Food Administration for two million more victory gardens this year, early polls and reports indicate the number is falling behind last year by an estimated 10 per cent.

"If these reports are true," Wickard said in an address before the Boston Advertising Club and the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, "it is simply because people are too complacent about the food situation."

"Some persons appear to feel that the battle on the food front has been won."

Wickard labeled such thinking as "unfortunate" because, he said, food production must be planned far in advance—a year or more in many cases.

"The amount of food we have on hand now does not indicate—nor does it assure—the amount we will have on hand a year from now," he added.

Have Leading Roles In Senior High School Play

Charlotte Ann Jones Dick McKee

The two leading roles in the senior high school's forthcoming production of "Janie" are Charlotte Ann Jones and Dick McKee.

"Janie," a comedy in three acts by Josephine Benthall and Herschel Williams, has been playing in New York this season and has been recently estimated by the critics there quite justly as "small town comedy and army camp shenanigans neatly spiced in a bit of harum-scarum merriment."

Charlotte Ann Jones is cast as Janie Colburn and brings to the stage the endearing qualities of a lively and quite unpredictable 16-year-old.

Dick McKee plays the role of "Scoop" Nolan, president of the senior class at the Hortonville high school. He is the kind of high school youth of whom the family is going to be enormously proud—when he grows up.

Charlotte is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Presley N. Jones of Newwood avenue. Dick is the son of Mrs. R. R. McKee of East street.

Quarter Million Fire Damages In Lock Haven, Pa.

LOCK HAVEN, Pa., April 12.—(INS)—A dozen families were homeless, three buildings were gutted and damage was estimated at upwards of $250,000 today in the wake of Lock Haven's worst fire.

When inventory of the fire, which raged from early morning until noon yesterday, was taken it was found that the J. J. Newberry store, two dental offices and the businesses of a half dozen merchants were ruined.

Many of the tenants, who occupied second and third floor apartments, fled in their night clothing. There were several near escapes when attempts were made to retrieve valuables, but no one was reported injured seriously.

The faces and hands of firemen were cut by flying glass from the heavy plate glass windows of the Newberry store when explosions in the paint department blew out the windows.

Approximately 400 firemen from Lock Haven, Mill Hall, Flemington and Howard fought the flames for seven hours before bringing them under control.

Auction Sale At Chicago Post Office Hits Ceiling Prices

CHICAGO, April 12.—(INS)—Ceiling prices on some articles are being smashed to smithereens at the auction sale of unclaimed packages at Chicago's main postoffice, but Postmaster Ernest J. Krueger said today it was okay.

Women gasped in envy when Otto Schmidt, St. Louis jeweler, got 12 pairs of nylon hose on his bid of $62. The OPA ceiling price on class A nylon hose is $15.50 to $25.50, including those sold at auctions, officials said. Krueger said, however, this ruling did not apply to the post-office auction.

"I came all the way from St. Louis to bid because I promised my wife I would get those stockings for her," said Schmidt.
